FUNDING FOR RESEARCH

$250,000

in childhood cancer research given in 2023!

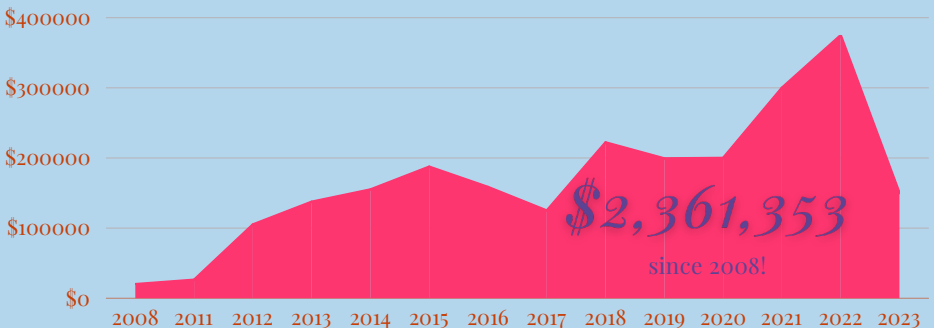

MD ANDERSON PEDIATRIC CANCER RESEARCH

After accidents, cancer is the leading cause of death in children. Thanks to treatment advancements in recent years, the survival rates for certain types of pediatric cancers have increased to 90%. However, there are still many other types that have much lower survival rates. Brain tumors can be among the deadliest with some diagnoses having survival rates as low as 1%.

Our ultimate goal is to create a world where ALL kids can be treated for cancer and go on to lead long and healthy lives.

Addi's Faith Foundation continues to fund a specific project at MD Anderson Cancer Center that is focusing on the use of autologous natural killer (NK) cells to safely and effectively treat recurrent/refractory brain tumors in children.

MEET HAISLEY

Haisley was diagnosed with ALL Leukemia in the summer of 2023. A few months later, AFF was able to provide more than 2 months of rent for Haisley's family so that her mom could focus on the most important thing... caring for Haisley.

“We were told to run to the hospital because my sweet Haisley had cancer. My entire world came crashing down. I am a single mother of just her. I had to stop working to take care of my baby. For the first time in my life I was faced with the decision to either work and support us financially or take care of my 5 year old who was battling cancer. Thanks to organizations like Addi's Faith Foundation, I am able to receive the help that I need to be able to care for my child. We are so grateful for the help we get while going through the hardest time of our life. Thank you to the entire Addi's Faith Foundation family for all the help and support.”
